Schedule for readings
EEP 131, Fall 2005

This schedule will be updated periodically. (See date in upper left corner.) Consult the Course Outline for details of the readings. For example, the Course Outline identifies the topic number, the readings under that heading, which of these readings are "starred", and the location of each reading (e.g., online, in assigned text, reader, or library reserve.) You should plan on finishing the scheduled readings by the end of the week.

Week 9, October 24

Take a deep breath; we are just over half-way through the semester. I would like you to use this week and most of the next to catch up on reading that you have put off doing, and to make some serious progress on your term paper.

I will spend the next several lectures discussing slightly technical subjects; I will post online lecture notes (in the "lecture note box") on this material.

Online lecture notes on:

Ricardian model

H-O-S model

Theory of the Second Best and "Principle of Targetting"

Week 10, October 31

Starred readings, Topic 7

Week 11, November 7

Starred readings, Topic 9

Week 12, November 14

2nd Progress Report due November 15

(Please give me a hard copy in class or put a hard copy in my mailbox in 207 Giannini. I do not want an electronic version – except in the case of some hardship.)

Topic 10, starred readings

Week 13, November 21

Chapter 15 of Barrett (paper to be handed out in class, and copies available in the folder attached to board next to my office door).

Week 14, November 28

Topic 14, Review article by Ross

Week 15, December 5

Topic 13, Chapter 4 of Oxfam report
Term paper due December 9
